What is ACAD?

The acronym ACAD stands for Asbestos Control and Abatement Division. ACAD is a division of the Thermal Insulation Contractors Association (TICA) and a trade association representing anyone involved with Asbestos & the Asbestos Removal Industry. ACAD was set up with the express intention of improving conditions in the industry and is still ongoing.

Objectives:

ACAD's main aims and objectives are to:

- Improve overall health & safety standards within the industry.
- Provide first-class asbestos training to the industry.
- Act positively to promote best working practices.
- Provide accurate information to members and the industry as a whole.
- Work closely with statutory bodies such as the Health & Safety Executive and the Environment Agency.

How ACAD is structured?

- ACAD has a Manager, Membership & Publications Co-ordinator, Training Co-ordinator and three full time Trainers. To support ACAD there is a Technical Committee made up of representatives from its members:
- The Technical Committee is responsible for ensuring ACAD maintains its position as the industry leader in promoting best practices and improving standards effectively and that the organisation continues to meet the needs of all members. The committee meets regularly to review legislative training and publications issues.
- Members of the ACAD Technical Committee are widely respected throughout the industry for their technical knowledge and expertise. The committee is responsible for approving updates for all technical documents.
- The committee also provides constructive comments for the ALG and Health & Safety Executives on health, safety and licensing issues and are regularly consulted by the HSE in developing future legislation for the asbestos industry.
